Customer Responsibilities

- Designate a single point of contact for all Cisco communication. This person has the authority to act on all aspects of the service being performed.
- Designate a backup contact when Customer contact is unavailable. This person has the authority to act on all aspects of the service in absence of the primary contact.
- Customer acknowledges that there will be no deliverable provided by Cisco and that Cisco's obligation is to only provide assistance to Customer with respect to the tasks detailed in this document.
- Customer will provide the product technology or product technologies and a high level description of desired work to Cisco at least three (3) weeks prior to service delivery. This enables Cisco to align a delivery resource appropriately. Where possible Cisco will provide a SME covering multiple technologies. Where resources with cross-functional skills required are not available as a single resource, Customers will require multiple SME services delivered across multiple SME delivery resources.
- Customer technical representatives will provide Cisco with such information, data and documentation as required for performing services.
- The following documents may be requested: Information relating to Customer's Network, design, business and other applicable requirements: Functional and/or technical documentation relating to such requirements.

- Provide topology maps, configuration information and existing and proposed Security infrastructure. Customer shall respond to Cisco's requests within two (2) business days for documentation or information required for the service.
- Providing reasonable access to Customer site(s) and facilities including, where applicable, computer equipment, telecom equipment, facilities and workspace. Customer shall provide proper letters of invitation, security clearances and/or escorts as required to access equipment and/or lab facilities etc.
- Customer shall ensure that contracts with its own vendors, end users and Third-Parties are fully executed and reflect the correct terms to enable service delivery.
- Customer is responsible for the management, support and direction of the resource supplied to Customer by Cisco.

General Customer Responsibilities

- All information (such as but not limited to: designs, topologies, requirements) provided by Customer is assumed to be up-to-date and valid for the Customer's current environment. Cisco Services are based upon information provided to Cisco by Customer at the time of the Services.
- Customer acknowledges that the completion of Services is dependent upon Customer meeting its responsibilities as indicated herein.
- Identify Customer's personnel and define their roles in the participation of the Services. Such personnel may include but is not limited to: architecture design and planning engineers, project managers, and network engineers.
- Ensure Customer's personnel are available to participate during the course of the Services to provide information and to participate in scheduled information gathering sessions, interviews, meetings and conference calls.
- Support services provided by Cisco comprise technical advice, assistance and guidance only.
- Customer expressly understands and agrees that the Services shall take place and complete within ninety (90) calendar days from issuing a Purchase Order to Cisco for the Services herein. Where multiple quantities of services for the same Cisco Security Product or technology are purchased under the same Purchase Order, these services may run consecutively.

Invoicing and Completion

Invoicing

Services will be invoiced upon completion of the Services.

Completion of Services

Cisco will provide written notification upon completion of the Service to Customer. The Customer shall within five (5) Business Days of receipt of such notification provide written acknowledgement of Cisco's completion of the Service. Customer's failure to acknowledge completion of the Services or to provide reasons for rejection of the Service within the five (5) Business Day period signifies Customer's acceptance of completion of the Service in accordance with this Service Description.
